MINISTER SENT TO JAIL.

Rev. James T. Hargrave, the unfrocked clergyman of the Episcopal Church, yesterday morning pleaded guilty to four indictments in the United States District Court in Richmond, and was sentenced by Judge Edmund Waddill, jr., to eight months in the Hanover county jail and to pay a fine of $100. The indictments, each of which contains three counts, charges Hargrave with having devised a scheme and with practicing the same with intent to defraud by use of the United States mails. Merchants in many parts of the country were his victims. Hargrave was sentenced on one indictment, the others being nolle prosequied.

Bishop Chauncey Brewster, of Hartford, Conn., whose name Hargrave had used in connection with the operation of his fraudulent schemes, was present as a witness in the case. They met in the court room, and the bishop, resenting Hargrave's flippant advance, said:

"You are a disgrace to your church; you have been disgraced by your church; you have been indicted by a grand jury and sentenced by an honorable judge. I can pray for you, but I fear I can not much help you."

Hargrave was first ordained a clergyman in 1881 by Bishop Horatio Potter of New York, an uncle of the present Bishop Potter. He was ordained a second time in Springfield, Ill., by Bishop George F. Seymour. As a clergmen he held charges in many states, from New York to Mississippi. He moved to Virginia in 1895, settling in Fairfax county. Six years ago he purchased a plantation in Hanover county, on which he has lived ever since.

Hargrave's alleged crimes cover many years. It is said that there is scarcely a city in the country in which he has not operated. Claims amounting to thousands of dollars are now in the hands of an attorney in Richmond, resulting from credit extended to him as a minister of the gospel. Several times his home, "Cedarhurst Lodge," in Hanover county, has been sold for debt. He is now under indictment of the Hanover grand jury and is awaiting trial on a charge of selling liquor without license. He has served several terms in jail.

A SAD CASE.

There was a pathetic scene yesterday in the boardroom of the Washington navy yard, where Assistant Surgeon David A. Spear, of the navy, is being tried on the charge of forging the names of brother officers to treasury checks, and cashing them for his own use. Spear's father, a white-haired gentleman from Columbus, O., and a judge of the State courts, testified how the disease of drink had fastened itself upon his boy, and how his love for liquor had wrecked his life. His son, he said, joined a battery of artillery that was organized during the Spanish war in Columbus, but the battery got no farther than Chickamauga. There his boy learned to drink. He returned home, but his habits made it impossible for him to remain there, and wherever he went his love of liquor proved his undoing. The old man's voice broke, and tears streamed from his eyes as he testified to the power which rum held over his son. His wife had come from Columbus with Judge Spear, but at the last moment she found herself unable to attend the trial and hear the testimony against her boy. Surgeon Spear admits that it was liquor that induced him to commit the forgeries.

His attorney, Mr. Henry H. Glassie, admitted the forgery, but declares that the crime was the act of a man whose mind is disordered, and his mentality irresponsible because of drink. The particular blame Mr. Glassie lays to Surgeon Spear's foundness for Martini cocktails, a beverage which he said contains, among other things, vermouth and absinthe, the toxic effect of which will, in the opinion of medical men, drive its victims to crimes and other excesses. Surgeon Spear's trial will continue for several days.

ADRIFT ON A RAFT.

J. W. Appleton, of Missouri Point, Mo., is floating down the Mississippi river with his family, 12 pigs, 3 cows, 2 horses and some poultry on a large raft, which he launched just before the river broke over its bank and covered his farm with several feet of water. He started Tuesday afternoon, intending to steer his raft for high ground, but thus far has not been able to effect a landing. The raft, which is an enormous affair, was built by Appleton two weeks ago in preparation for the flood. It is surrounded by a railing to keep the cattle from falling into the river. Food for man, beast and fowl to last several days was taken along.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1908

THE ATTEMPTED assassination of Major Alfred Dreyfus in the Pantheon in Paris yesterday shows to what extent race hatred animates some specimens of the human race. The attack on Dreyfus was made by the editor of a military journal who has nurtured his resentment of the action of the tribunal which two years ago declared Dreyfus innocent of the charge that he had sold military secrets to the German government. Emile Zola, who died in September, addressed to Felix Faure, then president of France, the famous letter "J'Accuse," in which he laid bare the conspiracy in the general army staff against Major Dreyfus. Yesterday his dust was interred with national honors in the Pantheon, the French temple of fame, with impressive ceremonies. The proposal to give Zola glorious burial, made first in 1906, aroused in France all the dormant animosities that came out during the Dreyfus trials and the transfer of his ashes, although voted by the chamber and the Senate, had to be twice postponed because of the state of public opinion. Disorder and rioting were expected yesterday and the authorities found it expedient to take measures for the preservation of peace. The opposition to removing the remains of Zola to the Pantheon arose from the fact that he was thus honored because of his famous letter, not because of his literary fame. He was the first successful leader in the Dreyfus war; he vanquished the general staff of the army and to give him glorious burial in the National Pantheon at the side of Berthelot and President Carnot, Victor Hugo, Voltaire and Rosseau, to an accompaniment of martial music, while long lines of soldiers defiled before his tomb, aroused the passions of a large number of the French people. In the case of the editor referred to above it led to attempted murder.

IN a statement given to the press of the country by Parker and Bridge, the recognized publication agents of various corporations, including the beef trust, a series of surprising revelations are made to the effect the recent artificial raise and maintenance in meat prices has had upon the packers' trade over the entire country. It is admitted in the statement, which is ingeniously devised as an appeal to the consumer, in the interest of the trust stockholder, that the effect of the high prices has been a boomerang upon the trade of the companies in the trust. Since the combine sent prices ballooning, according to a quotation from an official statement of the Armour Company, in Chicago, the business of that concern has been cut off more than 20 per cent. This seems to show conclusively that, when the trust put the prices to a level which the consuming public thought unjust, many buyers simply refused to be imposed upon and found a substitute for meat. Further, the statement intimates that as a result of this falling off in trade, some of the companies will not pay the usual dividends this year.

THE sensational charge is made that the Congressional Record report of the currency bill filibuster was "doctored" so that it should assist in squelching Senator LaFollette at the right time. The information has come into possession of the senator in the form of the stenographer's original typewritten copy of the report, in which changes, it is alleged, were afterward made with a pen. The changes were not mere corrections of detail, but vital alterations in the record of parliamentary procedure, calculated to make the official report help take LaFollette off the floor. The limit to which the average republican politician will go in attaining his end has not yet been reached.

THERE are evidences of another smallpox scare in the city and prompt measures should be taken to allay it. The city physicians are divided on the question and one of them stated today that he did not believe the eruption on the faces of the patients is smallpox and suggested that an expert on the disease be employed at once to determine the matter. It will be remembered that several years ago, after the city had spent several thousand dollars in "stamping out smallpox" it disappeared between two suns after Council had refused to pay out any more money on that account.

From Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 5.

It was formally announced at the White House today that the president will take a long hunting trip in Africa when he goes out of office next March. He plans, it was said, to sail some time in April, 1909 for Cairo, Egypt, where he will purchase his outfit, with the possible exception of some elephant guns of American make, that he will secure for himself and his son Kermit whom he intends to take along, before leaving the United States. How long he will remain in Africa has not been determined. The statement at the White House says he will stay in Africa until he secures specimens of all the big game he desires to bring home. The statement is taken as a new form of refusal of another nomination for president, and coming at this time, is interpreted as being designed to put a quietus on all third-term talk.

Following the lead of the Agricultural Department in prosecuting violations of the pure food law, the bureau of internal revenue has planned a series of raids for alleged infractions of the revenue laws all over the United States. Officers of that bureau instituted raids late yesterday at two local drug stores in this city on the ground that they were selling cigars in contravention of law. The ruling of the bureau under which the raids were conducted, relates to the removal of the entire tops of boxes upon which the major portion of the stamp is affixed, thereby leaving the package unprotected by proper stamp. The government contends that under its decisions this is prima facie evidence of nonpayment of taxes and that cigars thus unprotected with stamps may be declared forfeited to the United States. Two thousand cigars were seized here.

Reports of the serious condition of affairs in Panama as a result of the approaching elections, continue to arrive here, and are giving the administration much concern. There are grave contingencies in the situation which have determined the United States to take a firm stand in dealing with the republic. The most dangerous possibility, which is being considered, is the spread of the revolutionary spirit to the canal workers. There are 45,000 men on the canal payrolls, and of these, probably 35,000 are ignorant, and drawn from the lower classes of nearly every country of Europe and America. Among them are many adventurers from every nation, who would jump at a chance to get into a scrap which promised higher rewards than the daily wage on the canal works. Should a revolution break out in Panama, as is being predicted as a result of the arbitrary methods being pursued to force the election of Richardo Arias to the presidency, the administration entertains a lively fear that many of the canal employees would desert their jobs and go into the fight on one side or the other.

Secretary Taft announced this afternoon that Lieut. Col. H. F. Hodges, general purchasing agent of the Isthmian canal commission, in charge of the Washington offices, has been selected as a member of the Isthmian canal commission, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Jackson Smith, in charge of labor, quarters, and subsistence on the canal zone.

It had been announced semi-officially that when all the other Cabinet members were on their vacation, Secretary of State Root would be the "poor bah" of the administration at the capital. This he denied very emphatically today after the Cabinet meeting. "I am going to get away from Washington," he said, "just as soon as I can and the latter part of the month will go up to Muldoon's for a couple of weeks. During most of my vacation I expect to spend on my farm or at Utica."

With an average of nearly eight engagements a day, Japan is forcing the pacification of Korea. In the last nine days 69 engagements have been fought, in which 372 Koreans were killed, more than a thousand wounded and 55 taken prisoners. The Japanese are said to be losing.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Southern residents of Washington are arranging for an observance of Memorial Day on next Sunday. Commemorative exercises will be held in the Confederate section at Arlington at 4 p. m., and Governor Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina, will deliver an address and will be followed by Representative T. W. Sims, of Tennessee. A memorial musical programme, instrumental and vocal, will be executed. The Thirteenth Cavalry Band will play. One of the features of the exercises will be the unveiling of the Southern Cross, which is presented annually by Washington Camp, Sons of Veterans. The Southern Cross will be unveiled by Miss Annie C. Darlington, assisted by Miss Ruth Worthington Bowie. Special floral pieces will be prepared for the grave of General Joseph Wheeler, and a separate ceremony given in honor of his memory. The members of M. D. Corse Camp, S. C. V., and of Lee Camp, of this city, will attend.

GIRL KILLS HER BROTHER.

In a scuffle over a loaded gun in the hands of his brother Lewis Arrington, 16 years old, son of William Arrington, who lives in Amherst county, was shot and almost instantly killed on Wednesday by his 13-year-old sister Rose. Another brother, younger than the girl, had a narrow escape. Entering a room, Rose found her little brother playing with the gun and, fearing an accident, she attempted to take it away from him. In some manner the gun became entangled in the bed clothes and was discharged. The elder Arrington boy, who was also in the room, was struck by the entire charge of the gun. He died in a few moments.

MINISTER ATTACKS CLERK.

There was quite an excitement created at King George Court House on Wednesday when Rev. Turner, the Episcopal minister of that parish, went into the clerk's office and assaulted Mr. Thomas L. Hunter, deputy clerk. It seems that Mr. Hunter had heard of some injurious reports circulated by Mr. Turner about him and his family, and had asked for a conference to discuss the matter. During the talk Mr. Turner became angry and attacked Mr. Hunter, and endeavored to throttle him. He was restrained by his son-in-law, Mr. W. A. Rose, the Commonwealth's Attorney.

GOV. SMITH DEFEATED.

Returns from the Georgia democratic primary show the defeat of Hoke Smith for a second term by Joseph M. Brown, whom Gov. Smith dismissed from the office of railroad commissioner. The returns indicate that Brown's majority over Smith may be 25,000, or even more.

Gov. Smith has been in office hardly a year, having been elected twelve months before he was inaugurated, and has a year of his term yet to serve. Gov. Smith was overwhelmingly elected two years ago, on a platform calling for strict railroad regulation and the disfranchisement of the negroes. He has largely fulfilled his platform, and the revolt against him is inexplicable.

Much of the anti-Smith feeling was generated by the State prohibition law, which Gov. Smith signed, and the panic which threw many men out of employment was used to capture the labor vote for Brown. It was openly charged during the campaign that Brown had the solid support of the whisky forces and the railroads. Gov. Smith was also opposed by the coterie of politicians who had long dominated the State, and whom he overthrew two years ago.

The defeat of Gov. Smith will be considered a black eye for prohibition and disfranchisement.

A remarkable feature of the campaign is that Brown did not make a single speech, and is not known personally throughout the State. It is doubtful if one in a thousand of the men who voted for Brown would know the man if they met him.

Prohibition threw Atlanta, Savannah, Columbus, Macon and other cities against Smith. The governor also lost thousands of votes by abolishing free passes, which was one of the especially unpopular features of his railroad regulation programme.

United States Senator Clay was indorsed without opposition for another term.

E. B. Lewis, of the Third district, retires in favor of Dudley M. Hughes. The other Congressmen were all renominated.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

The thirteenth annual convention of the State Federation of Labor, which has been in session in Roanoke for several days, adjourned last night, to meet next year at Newport News. O'Connor, Norfolk; third vice president, J. A. Stels, of Richmond; fourth vice-president, J. H. Epperson, Portsmouth; fifth vice-president, L. A. Magri, Lynchburg; sixth vice-president, T. P. Jeffries, Arvonia; seventh vice-president, J. A. Welch, Clifton Forge; eighth vice-president, M. L. Lothrais, Fredericksburg; secretary, M. R. Pace, Richmond; sergeant-at-arms, J. W. Tatum, Norfolk; delegate to the national convention, J. R. Taylor, Roanoke.

New York Stock Market.

New York, June 5.—Trading all through the first hour was active with irregular movements, consisting of advances at the opening, followed by a decline of one point. The market then turned sharply on stories that President Roosevelt had authorized a denial of any intention to permit the use of his name at the republican convention and the losses were completely recovered. After rapid fluctuations the hour ended with the majority of stocks showing fractional net gains over yesterday's close.

O. H. P. BELMONT ILL.

Oliver H. P. Belmont is reported to be dying at his home, in Hempstead, L. I. An operation for appendicitis was thought to be too late, it is said, to be of benefit.

Oliver Hazard Perry Belmont was the son of the late August Belmont, the financier, and a brother of Perry Belmont. Oliver Belmont came of a distinguished race. His mother was the daughter of Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, who opened the commerce of Japan to the civilized world. His great uncle, for whom he is named, was the hero of Lake Erie. Through the Perrys he is related to the Rodgers family which has furnished many distinguished officers to the United States navy for the past century.

When Oliver Belmont was a boy it was decided that he should keep up the traditions of the Perry side of the house by being educated for the navy. While he was at the Naval Academy his relative, Admiral Christopher Raymond Perry Rodgers, was superintendent. In those days young Belmont was fonder of playing the violin than he was of seamanship. As a cadet he was, like Mickey Free, "remarkably fond of the ladies."

His first marriage took place in 1883, to Miss Sarah Whiting, the daughter of Augustus Whiting. They went to France for a wedding trip. Mrs. Belmont hastened back to America and procured a divorce. After the divorce a child was born. Mrs. Orme Wilson was its godmother, and Mrs. William Astor attended the christening. This caused a social breach between the houses of Belmont and Astor, which was never fully closed. Mrs. Belmont is now Mrs. George L. Rives.

When Belmont's father died he left him about $4,000,000. When Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt started in the yacht Valiant for a trip around the world, which ended suddenly at Nice, Belmont was one of the party. The decision to break up the party at Nice is said to have been arrived at while a game of poker was being played in the yacht's cabin.

Vanderbilt broke up the game by throwing his cards on the table and exclaiming, "D— this life, anyway!" Mr. Vanderbilt went up to Paris from Nice. Soon Mrs. Vanderbilt obtained a divorce.

Belmont was fond of coaching, but was not active in any other sport. In person, he was of medium height, dark like the Belmonts, and had a smooth-shaven face.

In dress Belmont was "outre." He was fond of gaudy waistcoats and striking "get-ups" and had a weakness for green Alpine hats.

He married Mrs. Alva Vanderbilt, the divorced wife of W. K. Vanderbilt, in 1896.

Mrs. Alva Belmont was Alva E. Smith, of Mobile, whose sister, Mimi, married Fernando Yznaga, and later William George Tiffany. She is the mother of William K. Vanderbilt, jr., the Duchess of Marlborough and Harold S. Vanderbilt.

Belmont was a delegate to the democratic convention at Kansas City in 1900, and in the fall of that year was nominated for Congress in the Thirteenth district. He was elected by a majority of about 4,000 over William L. Willcox, and served until 1903.

New York, June 5.—Though his condition is still critical, attending physicians today declared that Oliver H. P. Belmont passed a comfortable night and that their patient now has a chance for recovery.

LATER.

New York, June 5.—Mr. Belmont's death appears to be only a question of a few hours. He has been sinking steadily since an operation for acute appendicitis yesterday. "There is a bare chance that Mr. Belmont will pull through. That is as optimistic as I dare be in view of his condition." Dr. Louis E. Lanehart, attending surgeon at the bedside of the wealthy financier, made the above statement at noon. Mrs. Belmont though on the verge of collapse refuses to leave her husband's bedside.

DEATH OF MRS. HETZEL.

Miss Susan Riviere Hetzel, widely known as an organizer of the Daughters of the Revolution and other patriotic societies, died in Washington yesterday after an illness of four months. Death was due to a complication of diseases, following an attack of pneumonia. Miss Hetzel was the daughter of Captain A. Riviere Hetzel and his wife, Miss Margaret Jack. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Edmund Pendleton. Miss Hetzel was born in Washington and passed all her life at the national capital. Her private life was associated with the group that have come to be known as old Washingtonians; and her rare mind was filled with the traditions of social life at the capital. The work and interest of her later years were in the societies which she helped to found and with which she was actively associated. She was nurober 13 of the charter members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, numbering now over fifty thousand members. She was the helpful associate of Mrs. Hetzel, who originated the Mary Washington Association, and carried to successful completion the patriotic purpose of building a suitable monument to the memory of the mother of Washington.

Miss Hetzel was one of the founders, and registrar, of the Guadalupe Club, an association of the Daughters of heroes of the war with Mexico. She was a member of the Colonial Dames of Virginia; she organized and founded the Mount Vernon Chapter in Alexandria of the Daughters of the American Revolution; and was its first regent; and she was national registrar of the children's branch of the D. A. R.

She was registrar general of the Daughters of the American Revolution in 1898,1899 and 1900 and historian general in 1903, and wrote the story of the building of the Mary Washington monument. Miss Hetzel was a devoted and active member of the Episcopal Church, and possessed the beatitude of the pure in spirit. The funeral services at St. John's Church, Washington, at 3 o'clock, tomorrow afternoon, and the interment will be private at Arlington Cemetery.

Decision Reversed.

New York, June 5.—The appellate division of the Supreme Court today reversed the decision in the case of Walter R. Gillette, former vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, convicted on a charge of perjury in the recent insurance investigation and sentenced to six months in the penitentiary by Justice Dowling on October 28, 1907. The court also quashed the indictment.

Today's Telegraphic News.

Suspect Anti-Semitic Organization.

Paris, June 5.—Firm in the belief that Louis Anthelene Gregori, who attempted to assassinate Major Alfred Dreyfus in the Pantheon yesterday, was acting as the agent of an anti-semitic organization, the police today made a thorough search of his Paris apartments and also his country villa at Parmain in the hope of finding compromising papers. No word would be given out as to whether the search was successful, but the fact that the police are continuing their activity leads to the belief that they have discovered damaging evidence.

Disturbances following the attempted assassination of Major Dreyfus continued through the night and culminated today in a demonstration against the government by students. The police charged the students and, after a fierce clash, in which many arrests were made, the students were dispersed, singing the Marseillaise as they fled. Troops have been parading the streets for the last 24 hours, checking incipient riots. In all more than five hundred arrests have been made. The jails are overflowing. The city is still wildly excited and the Pantheon affair is on every tongue.

The fury of the nationalist papers is clearly evident. "L'Action Francaise" prints a statement by Charles Maurras, which the police are already investigating. Maurras says that on Wednesday night "a resolute patriot" visited M. Dandet and Lieutenant Bolefleury and himself and offered to kill Dreyfus, but his proposal was rejected. A leading editorial in this paper appeals to the country to turn to the Duke of Orleans for redress and concludes with these words: "Do you desire that Zola's body be ejected from the Pantheon? Do you desire to march Dreyfus to the execution block? If so, invoke your king."

Will Return the Money.

Lincoln, Neb., June 5.—On his return today from a ten days' speaking tour through northwest Nebraska Wm. J. Bryan declared his purpose of returning out of his own pocket the $15,000 sent by National Democratic Chairman Taggart to State Chairman Allen in 1904 and turned over to National Committeeman Dahlmann if it develops that the money came from Thomas F. Ryan. Party leaders are urging Bryan to demand from Dahlmann an accounting of the money, declaring Bryan must do this to be consistent in his demand for campaign publicity.

Denver, Col., June 5.—A movement to have Bryan's name placed in nomination for president by his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, has been started here following the election yesterday of Mrs. Leavitt as a delegate from Denver county to the state democratic convention at Glenwood Springs, June 15. It is expected that the state convention will send Bryan's daughter to the national convention as a delegate at large.

The Oaks Stakes.

London, June 5.—With the Oaks stake, second only to the English Derby in importance, almost won today at Epsom, Rhodora, Richard Croker's entry, met with an accident that put her out of the running. French Patridge was leading at the mile when she fell. Rhodora was second and coming fast when she stumbled over the fallen leader. The other eleven entries swerved to one side and escaped the mess.

The accident allowed Signorinetta, winner of the English Derby, to repeat, she winning by three-fourths of a length from Country. Santeve was third.

Rhodora was the favorite at 3 to 2, notwithstanding the victory of Signorinetta in the Derby. Croker's disappointment was keen.

King Edward witnessed the race and this time he congratulated M. Ginistrelli, owner of Signorinetta, something that he forgot to do when the Italian horse won the Derby.

On the Verge of War.

Belgrade, June 5.—Diplomatic relations were today broken off between Servia and Montenegro by the recall of the Servian minister at Cettinje and the two nations are now on the verge of war. The Servian minister asked for his recall, as he felt that it was not safe for him to stay in Cettinje as a result of the disclosures made at the trial of the 32 conspirators yesterday at which witnesses testified that Crown Prince George of Servia was the prime mover in the recent bomb outrages in Cettinje. This disclosure inflamed the people of Montenegro, and the Servian minister was forced to hide in his home, under a heavy guard, to keep from being assaulted by the companies of enraged Montenegrins that paraded the streets.

Sentenced for Fifty Years.

Andalusia, Ala., June 5.—Sitting between his sister, for the honor of whose name he killed George Bagley, and his aged, white haired father, whose sobbing protests filled the court room, Finley Howard was today sentenced to prison for fifty years, being found guilty of first degree murder. The severity of the verdict was a big surprise, as Howard's testimony that he shot Bagley for slandering his sister and also in self defense, was substantiated by several witnesses. The Bagley and Howard families are both wealthy and prominent, and the trial attracted more attention than any other ever held in the county. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

Train Ditched.

Millington, N. J., June 5.—The Bernardsville express on the Lackawanna Railway, due here at 8:26 and carrying many New York commuters, was ditched today several hundred yards west of the Millington station. Spreading rails are believed to have caused the wreck. Five persons were injured and it is believed one of the victims will die. The escape of the other passengers is considered almost miraculous. Two of the coaches turned upside down and rolled over a slight embankment. There were more than three hundred persons on the derailed train.

Night Rider Trap.

Ripley, O., June 5.—State officials are today preparing to spring their carefully laid night rider trap. Thirty well known men will face charges when the word for a raid of the riders by officers is given. The country was aroused early today by a terrific explosion from the fortress farm of Ed. Martin, on Eagle Creek. Martin is isolated from telephone communication and troops have been sent to investigate. Martin's farm and tobacco beds are mined with dynamite.

Republican National Committee.

Chicago, June 5.—With nearly every committeeman present the republican national committee today began making up the temporary roll for the convention which will assemble in the Coliseum here 11 days hence. Its task is the hardest in the history of the party. In making up the temporary roll it must pass upon 229 contests, and as its action will establish a precedent for the committee on contested seats when appointed, the decision means much to the candidates.

Simultaneously with the assembling of the national committee all of the several "headquarters" got busy. The allies issued their usual daily statements declaring "the tide has again set against Taft," while at the Taft headquarters all was serene.

The boom for John Hayes Hammond for vice president today became strong enough to make some of the leaders sit up and take notice.

"Hammond on the ticket," one of the engineer's friends explained carefully, "will mean that the committee will not have any trouble raising funds for expenses. But if it isn't Hammond we think it will be Fairbanks, in spite of his refusal to run."

The booms of former Governor Murphy, of New Jersey, and Governor Guild, of Massachusetts, are also here.

A fight to exclude Frank B. Hitchcock, Taft's manager, from the session of the republican national committee was started by the anti-Taft men shortly after the committee met today. Protests against the seating of Hitchcock as a proxy from New Mexico, Charles P. Phelps as a proxy from North Dakota, and A. F. Statter, as proxy from Alaska were filed with the committee. Statter and Phelps are both anti-Taft men, the anti-Taft people declaring it would be a breach of propriety to seat these men.

The committee tabled the protest against Hitchcock and the two other Taft men allowing them their seats. This is first blood for Taft.

The committee heard some strong talk and charges when the session opened from Jos. C. Manning, one of the Alabama contestants. He charged that President Roosevelt had sent Assistant Attorney General Alfred Colley, who, he said, was a member of "the tennis cabinet," to round up Taft's delegates in Alabama, and that, through the medium of the Interior Department he was able to "steal the convention." "We are determined" he declared, "that the federal officeholders shall not run the State."

Collision.

Joliet, Ill., June 5.—Engineer Shaw and Mrs. William Wilmer, a passenger, are today expected to die as a result of the collision between a freight train on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad and an Aurora car on the Joliet and Southern Interurban line in which three persons were killed and more than a score injured. The accident occurred at Big Slough, west of here. The electric car was running down grade and both the motorman and engineer saw the approaching disaster, but were powerless to prevent it. The interlocking switch threw the electric car off the tracks and the freight train crashed through it.

THE GAZETTE.

The old reliable Alexandria Gazette, one our very best exchanges, has issued a very handsome industrial edition—very interesting and highly creditable to this popular Virginia paper.—[Spirit of Jefferson.

Our old friend, the Alexandria Gazette, last week issued an industrial edition which was a great credit to the paper. It contains, besides much valuable information, several pictures of historic interest. Taken altogether it was a most valuable paper—[Staunton Spectator.

On Wednesday, May 20, the Alexandria Gazette issued an industrial number. The paper was a very creditable sheet and shows that the Gazette force was fully equal to the demands made upon it. The paper is crowded with valuable and interesting information about the Old Dominion and the city of Alexandria, in particular. We congratulate the Gazette upon the complete success of its effort and we hope good to the city and State may come out of it.—[Edinburg Sentinel.

[COMMUNICATED.

In Mr. Gordon's card dated June 2, 1908, I note that he has the name of W. W. Sherwood as being on the delinquent list for 1905 and 1906. Mr. Sherwood died in December, 1907, and just before his death called his family's attention to the fact that he only owed three small bills and these were all paid. Any one that knew Mr. Sherwood knows that he was not a man to be delinquent in any obligation. He was an old soldier and one of the few Confederate veterans left in Alexandria, who were exempt from paying the poll tax in order to vote and therefore his name should be exempt from the use to which Mr. Gordon puts it. I cannot feel that he would intentionally speak in error of an old soldier, but such a statement is very confusing and misleading to some voters, as well as those who knew him but slightly and should be corrected without delay. O. P. ANGELO.

CARD FROM MR. ROBINSON.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

In reply to the card of Mr. R. Lindsey Gordon, published in yesterday's Gazette, I will state that Mr. Gordon, on Tuesday evening last, requested me to meet him at the Clerk's office, in this city, at 8 o'clock, at which time and place I met him. He informed me that he had found some errors in comparing my certified list for 1906 with the delinquent lists for 1904-1905-1906, and requested me to go over them. I informed him that it would be impossible for me to comply with his request that night as I had a previous engagement which would prevent me, but it would take some time to do so, and further that I would have to have my books for the several years in order to make an accurate examination and comparison of his list, but that if he would give me a copy of his list I would be very glad to go over it the next morning and make a full and detailed report to him after making an examination and comparison of my books. He told me that he would furnish me the list on the following morning. I waited for him all day, but he failed to furnish me the promised list. At the interview which I had with Mr. Gordon I informed him that there were a number of people in Alexandria bearing the same name, which would probably explain the supposed errors. I have carefully examined and compared Mr. Gordon's list with my books and find that of the 21 names mentioned by Mr. Gordon in his card 17 are as follows:

1st, Joseph Lowenbach, two by that name assessed; one paid, the other delinquent.

2nd, No Joseph F. Chichester on certified list; should be Josiah F. Chichester who paid all his taxes; the Josiah F. Chichester returned 1905 appears on assessor's books as Joseph F. Chichester.

3rd, John Penn, there are three John Penns in the city, two paid and one returned delinquent.

4th, William H. Smith, two in city; one paid on supplemental assessment for 1904-1905-1906, on May 3, 1907, the other "Capt. Billy," died Oct. 26th, 1904 and returned delinquent.

5th, Charles W. Nowland, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

6th, William R. Cline, two in the city, one paid and the other delinquent.

7th, Albert McOuen, three assessed, two paid and one delinquent.

8th, Samuel Rambo, two assessed, one paid and one delinquent.

9th, George W. Hall, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

10th, John T. Harrison, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

11th, James J. Kelly, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

12th, James T. Smith, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

13th, John W. Minton, two assessed, one paid and the other delinquent.

14th, William Rogers, three assessed, one paid and two delinquent.

15th, Henry Sampson, two assessed, one paid the other delinquent.

16th, W. W. Sherwood, two assessed, one paid the other delinquent.

17th, William Darley, two assessed, one paid the other delinquent.

THE REMAINING FOUR,

18th, John B. Padgett, paid all capitation taxes but was erroneously returned.

19th, Charles Mankin, paid all capitation taxes but was erroneously returned for 1905.

20th, Anthony Brenner, paid all taxes, returned for 1905 by error.

21st, John G. Eberhart, returned delinquent for 1905 by error.

From the foregoing it will be seen that 17 out of the 21 mentioned by Mr. Gordon were properly on the certified list and properly returned delinquent. The other four were properly on the certified list but were returned delinquent through error. If Mr. Gordon had furnished me with the list as promised it would have saved both of us considerable trouble, and him the embarrassment of publishing over his own signature an article so flagrantly incorrect.

I notice that Mr. Gordon in his said article challenges the finding of any mistakes or errors in his letter of May 23rd, 1908. In his letter of that date he states on page 15 of his pamphlet, referring to my certified list for 1906 as follows: "Seventh. The treasurer's voting list in said city is not made in strict accordance with the law. It has three columns for the years 1904-1905-1906, respectively, and purports to show for which of these years the voter has paid or is delinquent and the names of persons are placed upon said list who are delinquent for one or more of the three years preceding the primary, while the statute requires that only persons who have paid taxes for the three preceding years assessed or assessable against them." In my conversation with Mr. Gordon of Tuesday night last he stated to me in the presence of several gentlemen that I had certified my list just as Hugh Hamilton, the treasurer of Fauquier county, and most of the other treasurers of the district certified theirs, and that he thought such way was the only accurate and correct way to certify said list; that the law was "awkwardly drawn" and that he believed that my list was one of the best certified lists he had seen.

I have read Mr. Gordon's article in the Loudoun Mirror of June 4th, and I cannot comprehend how he could subscribe to such an article, so replete with errors, after having made the careful examination on which he did in the clerk's office, of this city, and after publishing his article in the Gazette of yesterday, practically admitting only 21 names as being in doubt, all of which have been fully explained above.

Very truly yours,

THOS. W. ROBINSON.

The Philadelphia Record will publish, beginning Sunday, June 7th, a story by William J. Grimm, entitled "Onneta of Gnaden Huetten." This story is now published for the first time. It is a tale of colonial Pennsylvania at the beginning of the French and Indian war, and during the latter part of the active career of Conrad Weiser, the then famed but now almost forgotten Indian interpreter. This story should be of special interest to the Germans of Pennsylvania. It will be continued through June and July.

CHARGED WITH ABDUCTION.

Capt. Isaac Crampton, fifty-five years old, of Autietam, Md., commanding canal boat No. 64, plying between Cumberland, Washington and Alexandria, was arrested last night by the authorities of this city on the charge of abduction. He is alleged to have induced Nellie Penfield, aged fifteen, of Fowlers Hill, Georgetown, to leave her home. The aged man and his youthful companion were conducted back to Washington at a late hour last night. When questioned, the girl said she had accompanied the captain and his son and grandson on a trip to Alexandria. She denied any wrongdoing, and asserted the captain treated her kindly while she was on the canal boat The girl further said she had been repeatedly asked to make the trip with the aged captain. She said on each occasion she put him off until yesterday morning, when she decided to accompany him and to act as cook on board the boat. She says she went to the wharf at Georgetown about 11 o'clock yesterday morning and boarded the boat. After cooking dinner she went to her cabin and retired. She knew nothing until she was awakened by the police of this city.

Acting Lieutenant Roberts and Officers Garvey and Sherwood, who took the man and young woman in custody, say they were occupying the same bunk on the boat.

Capt. Crampton is married and is the father of five grown children. He was indignant over his arrest and the charge of abduction.

SMALLPOX.

Two mild cases of smallpox are reported in a house on the west side of Washington street, between Wolfe and Wilkes. As the house in which the disease has appeared has been used as a shop and is opposite the Washington School building, some uneasiness has been manifested among parents whose children attend the school and who doubtless have been patronizing the shop. This house and the three houses adjoining have been quarantined as people have been passing from one to the other, and a guard has been placed there to keep the inmates indoors until danger has passed.

IMPROVEMENT.

Business is on the increase at Dean's ship yard near the outlet of the old canal and the improvement in general repair work has made it necessary for this firm to construct a large railway which is about completed and in future large vessels can be hauled out and repaired. A dredge is now deepening the channel leading to the shipyard. Mr. Augustus Dean and his son, Charles, who constitute the firm, are first-class mechanics and are deserving the measure of success they have attained, as it comes from industry and strict attention to business.

FORFEITED HER COLLATERAL.

Some excitement was caused on the wharf of an excursion steamer at the foot of Prince street yesterday evening by a drunken woman who desired to board the steamer, but who had been forbidden to do so by the officers. Policemen Beach, Nicholson and Sherwood finally took the woman in charge. Upon reaching the station house she gave her name as Mamie Wilson, and left $10 collateral for her appearance this morning. She could not be found when the case was called.

Among the acceptances for the new bonds received by the auditor today was $11,500 from Washington, D. C—$10,000 from one lady and $1,500 from one of the asylums. This sum added to previous acceptances makes a total of $32,000 from Washington, or more than 42 per cent. of the $74,000 held in Washington.

SCHOOL BOARD.

At the monthly meeting of the City School Board held last night there were present Capt. Herbert Bryant, chairman, and Messrs. Stabler, Ramsay, Bradshaw, Thomson, Boothe, Carter and the superintendent.

A number of bills for supplies and repairs were ordered to be paid.

The superintendent reported that all of the schools were running in regular order; one teacher had been absent half a day.

At the suggestion of the superintendent he was directed to commence the closing of the schools for the summer recess on Monday, June 15.

The superintendent stated that it having been reported to him that a colored boy living in a house in which a case of smallpox was suspected, had been going to school, he had ordered the building fumigated.

The superintendent presented a letter from School Examiner Maphis asking that if application is to be made for money for high school purposes, it be made at once and the superintendent was instructed to ask for $1,000.

Applications from Leon C. Baltimore and Alma N. Pinn, graduates of the Normal and Industrial School at Petersburg, for positions as substitute teachers in the colored schools were received and both were elected substitute teachers.

A preamble and resolution setting forth that the board had purchased from Arthur Herbert, trustee of Mrs. Evelyn C. Lewis, the property on Prince street, between Patrick and Henry, and authorizing the chairman to execute the necessary note payable in five years, to the said Arthur Herbert, and also directing the chairman to execute a deed of trust conveying the property to G. L. Boothe, trustee, to secure the payment of the note, were adopted.

The chairman stated that he had passed to Col. Arthur Herbert, trustee for Mrs. Lewis, the certified check for $1,000 he had received as the initial payment on Peabody building and that the deed for the property would be handed over to the clerk for safe keeping.

The board then adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice L H. Thompson presiding.]

L. H. Crampton and Nellie Penfield, the former charged with abduction, and the latter from running away from home, were turned over to the Washington authorities.

Four boys, charged with pulling cherries from a tree in a yard on Duke street, were fined $1 each.

MR. CARLIN AT MANASSAS.

Mr. C. C. Carlin spoke at Manassas last night in the interest of his renomination for Congress and used plain language in denouncing some of those who are fighting him. The meeting was presided over by Mr. R. H. Hutchison. Mr. Carlin occupied much of his time in criticism of some of Mr. Gordon's utterances from the stump and denying the charges that improper methods had been used to procure his nomination in the last primary. The speaker charged that Crandal Mackey, of Alexandria county, could not speak the truth, and denounced as a lie the statement made in Loudoun that he had offered a man money there for his support.

A Mercenary Boy.

"When I was a boy," said the man who insisted that men were more mercenary than women, "I had a little friend named Willie. Willie appeared one day with a fine apple.

"'I'll give you this apple,' he said to a little girl, 'for twenty kisses.'

"The little girl was amazed. That was not at all like Willie. Nevertheless she consented.

"'Shut your eyes,' said Willie. 'Sit down here and shut your eyes. And, mind you, if you open them the bargain is off.'

"The little girl obeyed, and slowly, very slowly, the kisses began to fall upon her lips. One, two, three, four (a long pause), five, six (another long pause), seven (pause), eight, nine, ten (intolerable pause).

"'Oh, Willie, hurry!'

"'I'm not Willie.'

"The little girl opened her eyes in astonishment and drew back her pretty mouth from the advancing lips of a strange boy, a very common, shabby sort of boy, whom she had never seen before.

"'Why, where's Willie?' she cried.

"'He's down the street,' was the reply, 'sellin' yer kisses for two apples apiece. Better shut yer eyes again. The next three boys is terrible ugly.'"—St. Louis Republic.

On the Verge.

He considered it a parental duty to see that his daughter kept only the very best marriageable company.

"Mary," said her father, "you have been going with that Mitchell fellow for more than a year now. This courtship must come to a termination."

"Oh, pa, how can you talk so? He is, oh, so sweet and nice!"

"Ah!" And the fond father arched his eyebrows. "Sweet and nice, eh? Has he proposed?"

"Well, pa, not exactly." And the girl hung her head and fingered the drapery of her dress. "He hasn't exactly proposed; but, then, last evening, when we were out walking, we passed by a nice little house, and he said, 'That's the kind of cottage I am going to live in some day,' and I said 'Yes,' and then he glanced at me and squeezed my hand. Then, just as we got by, I glanced back at the cottage, and—and I squeezed his hand, pa."

"Oh, ah, I see! Well, we'll try him another week or two."—London Tit-Bits.

His Feelings Were Hurt.

It is strange how unreasonable some people are in business—how unreasonable and how inconsiderate of the feelings of others. As an example, there is the case of a fidelity company in New York which suddenly and arbitrarily canceled the bond it had issued for a man attached in a fiduciary capacity to an important concern. It was the most natural thing in the world for the man to display some feeling and to demand to know the reason for such action. And the inconsiderate head of the bonding company wrote him to this effect:

"Because you were convicted of forgery under another name in the year —— and served a term in the state prison at ——."

The recipient of the note felt so hurt that he couldn't reply. He still is silent.—New York Globe.

A Singer's Avarice.

We hear a great deal about the enormous salaries paid to famous prima donnas nowadays, and we also hear a great deal about their charity and good nature. In the reign of Queen Anne one of the most celebrated singers was Mrs. Tofts, who had a veritable craze for money making as well as a great deal of personal conceit. Pope, who never spared any persons or objects that he satirized, wrote an epigram that must have greatly annoyed the avaricious singer:

So bright is thy beauty, so charming thy song,
As had drawn both the beasts and their Orpheus along,
But such is thy avarice and such is thy pride
That the beasts must have starved and the poet have died.

—London Standard.

He Was a Judge.

One of the consuls to Persia during a visit home said at a dinner in Chicago:

"Lady Drummond Wolffe once got permission to visit the late shah's harem. She took a friend with her who was about to be married. The two Englishwomen wandered over the palace, and presently the shah encountered them.

"'Come here,' he said to Miss Blank in his crude French.

"'You are about to be married?' he said.

"'Yes, your highness.'

"'It's late!'"—Boston Post.

Not In His Line.

"They tell me," said the new reporter, who was doing an interview, "that you have succeeded in forging your way to the front."

"Sir," replied the self made man coldly, "you have been misinformed. I'm no forger."—London Globe.

A Remarkable Suicide.

A man who had visited Paris was telling of an extraordinary suicide he had heard of in that gay city. "He was a Frenchman, who was nothing if not original," said the teller of the tale, "and even when he grew despondent he planned his death is a most original fashion. He locked the door of his room in the Rue Nitot and, removing the weights of the window cord, fastened them to the window itself. He added to the weight of the window by attaching six flatirons. On the sill he adjusted a large triangular bread knife, such as is used by chefs, and made ready a small balloon, capable of lifting fifty pounds. The ingenious Frenchman then put his head out of the window after attaching the balloon to his neck and by releasing the clamp that held the window cut his head off completely with the improvised guillotine. The decapitated body was discovered several days later, but it was not until the balloon and the head were found a week later in the field of a peasant, eighteen miles from Paris, that the method of suicide was really known."

Old Maps of Louisiana.

An interesting exhibit in the Louisiana State museum is a collection of old maps that show the state of Louisiana extending from Canada, which was then called New France, on the north to the gulf of Mexico on the south and from Virginia and Carolina on the east to the Pacific on the west. These maps were printed in Italy and Holland and France and were evidently largely works of fancy and imagination on the part of the geographers, as they depict mountain ranges where none exists and lakes and rivers distributed around in places where they are not found today. One of the most charming of these maps represents the Mississippi river as making a graceful turn along what is now the roadbed of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and emptying into the gulf in Florida. Along a strip of this country about where English Lookout and peaceful Bay St. Louis are located is a fearsome spot marked as the land of the man eaters.—New Orleans Picayune.

A Coveted Picture.

Some years ago a western man entered J. G. Brown's studio and seemed to gain satisfaction in finding its familiar features unchanged. He told the artist that in his boyhood he had worked in the streets of New York and, with others of his class, had served as a model for one of the pictures of street boys. He had gone west and had prospered and now had returned with a desire to become the owner of the group picture in which he and some of his boyish cronies appeared. He wanted it as a reminder of the struggles of his boyhood. He looked back on those days as being quite as happy as any he had ever known. The picture, says W. Howard Standish, discussing J. G. Brown, a painter of humble folk, had long ago been sold, and, although the would be purchaser offered to give his check for $25,000 for the work, the artist was unable to supply any clew to its whereabouts.—New Broadway Magazine.

To His Benefit.

A Tennessee congressman enjoys telling a story of a darky in his district who in a way is something of a philosopher.

Some one was saying to Mose one day: "You're always in trouble, Mose. Why can't you try to do better? You're a likely sort of darky, and you could get along very well if only you'd behave yourself—keep a steady job instead of drinking bad whisky and getting yourself behind the bars half the time."

"Excuse me, boss," said Mose, with a grin, "but it looks to me like I makes more money this way. When I works hard I gets $7 a month and my board. When I gets arrested the jedge he says to me that it will be $10 or thirty days. How kin I afford to work for $7 a month when I'm worth $3 more in de lockup?"—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Diagnosed the Case.

A successful oculist recently put in a day or two with his new shotgun in the marshes. He soon noticed that when using the left hand barrel he generally brought down the game, but when using the other barrel he invariably missed. He finally tacked a small target to a bush near the river's bank and fired at it several times with each barrel in order to bring the matter to a test. The result confirmed his suspicions. One barrel was all right, or nearly so, and the other was all wrong.

"Well," said the oculist to a friend who was with him, "as nearly as I can make out this gun has a severe case of strabismus, with strong symptoms of astigmatism!"—Modern Society.

The Cost For Repairs.

"Why did you sell your auto?"

"Cost too much for repairs."

"Wasn't it a good machine?"

"First rate. Never got out of order. But I had to pay for repairing the people it ran over."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Judicial Ignorance.

"Did the clock stop when you dashed it down cellar?" asked the police judge of the man who was charged with being disorderly.

"Of course it stopped. Did you suppose it went through to China?"

Modern Facilities.

"Who was dis Rip Van Winkle?"

"An old time guy wot slept in de mountains."

"Didn't have no public libraries, I s'pose, in his day?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.
